Valutek's Reusable Cleanroom Glove is Ultimate in Comfort
Polyurethane-coated nylon glove is ESD compliant and comfortable

PHOENIX (FEBRUARY 2011) —When it comes to cleanroom gloves, operators have three common complaints: they are constrictive, causing hand fatigue; they are uncomfortable because they cause sweatiness; and they have a poor fit. It's no surprise that due to these factors, operators are constantly looking for any excuse to remove them, causing disruption and potential contamination in critical environments.

Valutek, an industry-leading manufacturer of cleanroom supplies, listened to these operator complaints and used this insight to develop the Reusable Polyurethane-Coated Nylon Cleanroom Glove. It is the first comfortable, reusable glove suitable for macro environments.

Starting with Valutek's industry-proven nylon glove, the product is then coated in ultra-clean polyurethane (PU) on its front-facing parts. The backside of the glove remains breathable and comfortable, while the palm and fingers are safe for contact with products. The coating also allows for added defense from abrasions and tears, further protecting both operator and product.

The polyurethane (PU) coating of Valutek's Reusable Cleanroom Glove makes it ESD compliant and, as with all Valutek's products, the company controls product specs from inception to delivery in its distribution centers.

"You operate your controlled environment to ensure consistency of your product and research, and getting your operators to perform at their highest level is a demanding task," says Greg Heiland, CEO. "At Valutek, we get that. That's why we've introduced the first glove designed with the operator's comfort in mind."
